

The gene most commonly mutated in Wilson Disease is:

ANSWER: ATP7B

The most commonly mutated gene in Wilson Disease is ATP7B. Copper metabolism was initially understood with Menkes Disease, with the Menkes gene identified as ATP7A.